General
Exch
Library of Congress

INDEX

TO THE

SEVENTH VOLUME

OF THE

SOUTHERN QUARTERLY REVIEW.

---

A.

Ante-Roman Races of Italy, 261—300; Roman ruins, 264; fabulous stories of Romulus and Remus, 265; era of the city doubtful, 266; whether of Etruscan or Pelasgian origin, 269; the aborigines, 273; various names to the same tribe, 276; exhibited in the American Indians, 276; in the early English, 277; early religion of Italy, 283; Pelasgians the parents of Greek and Roman civilization, 293; Roman policy, 294; Etruscan history, 297; how related to Roman, 299.

Americanism in Literature, 257.

Arnold, his Life and Correspondence, 530.

B.

Beechen Tree, 258.

Bible Episcopacy, 255.

Bible, Literature of, 103.

Burr, Aaron, 220.

C.

Carolina Political Annals, 479—526; histories of Carolina, 479; her laws, 481; early and conflicting claims to her territory, 482; charters, 483; charter Charles II., 484; Locke's constitutions, 485; who concerned in drawing them up, 486; Locke's constitutions minutely analyzed and examined, 488; their anti-liberty bias, 491; history of slavery, 491; first colonization of the state, 493; difficulties with the proprietors—Locke's constitution overthrown, 495; the revolution of 1719, 496; witchcraft in S. C., 496; causes of the revolution of 1719, 497; royal government established, 498; revolution, and constitution of 1776, 499; constitution of 1788, 500; rights of the clergy under it, 501; constitution of 1790, 502; analysis of the government, 502; amendments of 1808 and 1810, 503; federal relations, 505; comparison of the federal and State government, 506; doctrine of the governments,

509; treaty of Ghent, and tariff of 1816, 508; tariff of 1824, 509; tariff of 1828, 510; position of South-Carolina and other Southern States in reference to it, 511; tariff of 1832, 512; parties in So. Carolina—Union party, 514; Carolina Convention, and ordinance of nullification, 515; addresses of the convention, 516; President's proclamation, 517; Gov. Hayne's counter proclamation, 518; Virginia mediation, 519; the compromise act, 519; repeal of the nullification ordinance, 520; violation of the compromise, 520; force bill, 521; test oath, 521; Pennsylvania nullification, 522; Virginia and Kentucky nullification, 523; Georgia nullification, 524; Presidential electors in S. C. 524; Carolina judiciary, 525; system of courts in the State, 526;

Cuba, Madame Merlin's Work on, 153.

Charleston Book, 256.

Carolina Planter, 259.

Charlton's Address, 529.

Chalmers' History of the Colonies, 531.

E.

Education in Europe, 1—74; theories of education, 2; Horace Mann's views, 4; his European investigations, 8; Prussian schools for deaf and dumb, 9; partial and national systems of education, 17; German school books, 19; Scotch schools, 23; Prussian schools, 26; mode of teaching without alphabet, 30; exercises in thinking, 37; the Bible in German schools, 39; Prussian teachers, 40; corporal punishment in schools, 45; compulsory system of education, 48; system of schools in South-Carolina, 55; evils of mere charity schools, 57; present system most imperfect, 60; Southern school books, 64; physical education, 67; schools in the different States, 70; common schools and academies, 73.

Etruria, History of, 211.

Ellen Woodville, 252.

Editorial Notes, 260, 532.

F.

Fiske Fund Prize Dissertation, 527.

Foreign Reviews, 532.

Floral Wreath, 259.

G.

Gray's, Mrs., History of Etruria, 211—219; true position of the book in the literary world, 212; Mrs. Gray's claims to learning, 214; her blunders, 215; Mrs. Gray's knowledge of Etrurian antiquities not indifferent, 218; her apologies, 219.

Gregg's Essays on Cotton Manufactures, 529.

Guy's Medical Jurisprudence, 531.

H.

Hoar's Mission, 456—478; complaint of Massachusetts, 456; Position of South-Carolina, 459; Difficulties between the North and South on the slave question, 460; course pursued in South-Carolina, 462; judicial decisions on the question, 463; Gov. Wilson's exposition of the case, 464; resolutions of the Legisiature of S. Carolina, 466; Col. Hunt's legal argument in defence of the law of the State excluding free blacks, 469; the Federal Courts have nothing to do with this question, 474; State sovereignty opposed to Massachusetts, 475; vicious course pursued by that State, 477.

Hauff's Works, 197.

I.

Izard's Correspondence, 530.

Italy, 261.

J.

Judicial Tenure, 448—455; Letters of the Black Sluggard, 448; tenure of judicial office in the different States, 449; whether age should be a limitation, 450; intellectual powers in old age, 451; evil effects of limiting the judge's tenure, 454.

L.

La Salle, Sieur de, 75—103; spirit of 16th and 17th centuries, 75; French and Catholic settlements in America, 78; Marquette's discoveries, 79; La Salle's early movements, 80; his views in reference to the Western wilderness, 81; navigates the lakes, 83; conference with the Indians, 85; expeditions and fraud of Father Hennepin, 88; navigation of the Mississippi, 91; discovery of its mouth and ceremonies on the occasion,—La Salle attempts to plant a French colony at the mouth of the Mississippi, but fails, 98; lands in Texas, 99; is killed by his men, 100; French, Spanish and American claims to Louisiana and Texas, 102.

La Havane, 153—197; Madame Merlin's mistakes with reference to the United States, 155; her description of Washington, etc., 157; arrives at Havana, 159; Havana life, 165; Havana lady, 163; sugar plantations, 165; rice, coffee, etc., 167; the cacao plant, 168; slavery in Cuba, 170; history of Cuba, 173; Don Aranjo, 175; Patriotic Society of Cuba, 179; extraordinary life and character of Tacon, 181; character of O'Donnell, 182; government and revenue of Cuba, 184; grinding system of taxation on the island, 186; relations of Cuba to Spain, 187; revolutionary movements, 188; British influence in the affairs of the island, 194; effects of projected emancipation of slaves, 195; insurrectionary movements of the slaves, 196; relation of Cuba to the United States, 196.

Literature of the Bible, 103—123; spirit of learning fostered by the Bible, 105; indebtedness of modern literature to it, 107; erudition of theology, 108; grandeur of Bible topics, 111; Byron indebted to the Bible for some of his finest passages, 113; Shakspeare's indebtedness, 115; splendor of Bible imagery, 122; Bible influences, 123.

Life and Writings of Rabelais, 124—152; his quaint phraseology, 125; his early life, 126; becomes a friar, 128; his humour, 129; his death, 130; extensive learning, 131; numerous editions of his works, 133; his Gargantua and Pantagruel, 134; his inclinations towards the Reformation, 136; Rabelais the French Aristophanes, 137; his character not generally understood, 139; memorable events of the period of Rabelais' life, 143; Rabelais' views of Catholics and friars, 146; his attacks on the Papacy, 148; catalogue of his various writings, 151.

Literary Messenger, 259.

M.

Memoirs of Aaron Burr, 220—250; Burr's life, 221; revolutionary services, 222; tragical fate of his daughter, Mrs. Allston, 225; Burr's military character, 228; enters the political world, 230; his contest with Jefferson for the Presidency, 231; his difficulties with Hamilton, 233; true position of both parties, 236; the duel, 237; charge of treason against Burr, 239; unsettled condition of the Western country at this period, 240; dangers of revolution, 244; Burr's trial, 245; the many points in his defence, 246; his views in regard to Mexico, 247; general reflections in view of the whole case, 249.

Massachusetts and South-Carolina, 456.

Mackey's Lexicon of Masonry, 528.

Medicines, their uses, etc., 525.

N.

Notes on Cuba, 251.

Nott's Lectures on the Caucasian and Negro Races, 372.

O.

Oracles from the Poets, 527.
Onderdonk's Trial, 532.

P.

Poems of Elizabeth B. Barrett, 300–311; her classics, 300; her 'Drama of Exile,' 301; imagery of her poems, 305; her sonnets, 306; extracts from her poems, 308.
Penn, Tyson's Discourse on his birth, 528.

R.

Rabelais, 124.
Religion in America, 350-372;—christian toleration of infidelity, 350; intolerance of the church, 351; infidelity in alliance with politics, 352; with patronage and power infidelity perishes, 353; relations of christianity to government, 354; the republicanism of christianity, 355; despotism grows out of its corruptions, 356; America colonized at a favorable epoch in the religious history of the world, 357; Blue Laws in the colonies, 357; eminent American divines, 361; George Whitfield, 362: christianity in America after the revolution, 362; christianity the established religion of the land, 364; so declared in South Carolina, 365; reaction from infidelity, 365; the voluntary principle of the American churches, 369; American pulpit, 368; pulpit themes favorable for the development of oratorical perfection, 369; eloquence of contemporary pulpit orators, 370; support of churches in the Southern States, 371.

S.

Spirit of the Age, 312—350; spirit and genius of an age, 312—320; character of Mr. Horne as a writer, 322; who are the true critics, 324; 'Orion,' 325; Horne's criticisms, 333; Dickens, 334; Marryatt, 335; Ingoldsby, 336; Hook, 337; Hood, 338; Bulwer, James, Ainsworth, Shelley, Gore, Trollope, Walter Scott, 340; D'Israeli, 343; his 'Coningsby,' 346; his influence on the age, 349.
Simms' Monthly Magazine, 529.
Sparks' Letters on Episcopacy, 531.

U.

Unity of the Races, 372;—Wiseman's lectures on the "comparative study of languages", 373; Asiatic origin of our aborigines, 376; the natural history of the human race, 376; the mongul race, 377; geological researches, 378; their bearing upon the creation and deluge, 379; testimony of Dr. Maculloch, 380; present state of the earth of recent origin, 381; Egyptian hieroglyphics deciphered, 382; shepherd kings of Egypt, 383; evidence for the Bible from medals inscriptions and monuments, 384; character of Wiseman's lectures, 385; Dr. Nott's lectures, 386; apparently hostile to the Bible, 387; have done injustice to "Bible commentators"; Mosaic account of the creation, 390; the fundamental propositions of Dr. Nott's lectures against the unity of the human race, 392; whether physical causes can change a white man into a negro, 393; were the Egyptians Caucasians? 394; diversity of scripture chronological calculations, 395; Gliddon, Champollion Rossellini, 397; chronology of Usher and the Septuagint, 398; ancient trees in relation to the flood, 400; longevity of trees, 401; the pyramids, 402; Egyptian arts and sciences, 403; Etruscan art, 404; signification of Hebrew names, 405; Misraim a Caucasian, 406; whether Ham the progenitor of the negroes, 407; Cush, 409; whether the Egyptians were Caucasians, 411; adaptation of plants and animals to particular climates, 415; climatic influences upon men. 416; Portuguese in Africa, 418; negro in cold climates, negroes in Turkey, 420; universality of the deluge, 422; its effects, 423; effects of physical causes in producing difference among the human race, 436; effects of these causes upon the vegetable and animal kingdoms, 428; change of color in nations, 430; change of form, 434; difference between the Caucasian and negro, 438; whether essential, 440; hybrids in animals, 444; the mulatto, 445; affinity of languages, 447.

W.

Works of Wilhelm Hauff, 197—211; Hauff's early life, 199; his 'Lichenstein,' 200; plot and detail of the story, 201; 'Castle of Reissenstein,' 206.

Wiseman's Lectures on Science and Revealed Religion, 372.